Botany at a glance:

Botany is a science of plants. It deals with basic study of plants and their activities as well as studies related to scientific applications of botanical knowledge. Basic knowledge of botany will help us to solve various problems and making the life happy and comfortable. Therefore, awareness about plant is essential as the plants fulfill most of our needs.

Importance of Excursion:

Botanical science cannot be studied in restriction of a classroom and laboratory. To study botanical science, one has to go in nature or in plant flora to study them in their natural habitats.

The study tour was arranged by Botany Department of our college to have actual experience as "Experience is our best teacher". There is a wide scope to observe various plant species to know new genera, species and varieties and to collect these plant species. We also know about various new and unique plants. It helps to increase our practical knowledge. A study tour with scientific attention gives us a lot of information directly which we cannot obtain in classroom, laboratory or also by reading any book in library.

About College:

Annasaheb Awate Arts, Commerce and Hutatma Babu Genu Science College was established in 1966 by Rayat Shikshan Sanstha. The founder of the Sanstha, Padmabhushan Dr. Karmaveer Bhaurao Patil established the Sanstha in 1919. The institution rose up to greater heights due to the unprecedented contributions of Bhaurao Patil in the realm of education. Annasaheb Awate whose name has been given to this college was a veteran educationist and a social reformer of this region besides, the science faculty is named after Hutatma Babu Genu who breathed his last while fighting against the atrocities of the British rulers. The college was responsible for educating the first generation of the region. The college owns 105 acres of land. 55 acres of land is used for infrastructure while remaining 50 acres is used for the social forestry. The college campus has a rich environmental and natural beautiful background therefore; the agro-based projects such as mango, banana, guava, amala, custard apple, fig, coconuts, tamarind, nuts, medicinal plants, rose garden etc. are being carried on.

Aims and objectives:

1. Observation and identification of the rare, endemic, endangered, threatened and medicinally important plants from all maximum localities, which are mentioned in the Red Data Book and different Floras published by various workers.
2. To create awareness in the tribals of the respective localities regarding the position of these plants.
3. To create awareness in the undergraduate students regarding the rare, endemic, endangered, threatened and medicinally important plants.
4. To utilise the youth (the undergraduate students) for regeneration of the rare, endemic, endangered, threatened and medicinally important plants and for their reclamation in their original localities.

5. To create an appropriate source to the tribals who are dependent on the forest, to develop awareness in them about dangers of their survival.
6. To create ideal forests with maximum plant diversity and medicinally important plants and regenerate ethno botanical status.
7. To create an ideal botanical garden with maximum RET species.

The Western Ghats are full of high altitude plateaus/rock outcrops amidst mesic forests. Throughout the world, rock outcrops are isolated habitats and known for their uniqueness with respect to environmental variables and biodiversity and well known as centers of species endemism. In India such special habitats are geographically known but very less information is available about their floristic wealth. Available studies are occasional and limited to ecology. Due to a lack of appropriate information and errors in the study models of random sampling, important habitats may get misinterpreted and pose a threat to conservation. A comprehensive botanical study of two rock outcrops, Durgawadi Plateau (DP) and Naneghat Plateau (NP), on the escarpment of the northern Western Ghats revealed a very high within-site (360 taxa on DP and 249 taxa on NP) and between-site plant diversity totaling to 443 taxa of specific and infraspecific ranks. The individual outcrop areas are very small (2.8793km<sup>2</sup> and 0.7524km<sup>2</sup> respectively for DP and NP) but harbor a huge diversity of flowering plants. The commonly shared taxa are relatively low (37% of the taxa recorded) indicating that the two outcrops are floristically very distinct from each other. They are also distinct in terms of soil composition, though on the same crest line of Sahyadri and quite close to each other. The study emphasizes the need for micro-level inventories of smaller areas by taking intensive surveys for documentation of different aspects of the abiotic and biotic diversity as well as other environmental and anthropogenic variables.

Report:

Department of Zoology Annasaheb Awate college, Manchar was organized field visit to Vermicompost and Apiculture unit in college campus for B.Sc. first year student on 28th March 2024. Student learn about Vermicompost and Apiculture process ( skill) from this visit. They also learn about how to prepare vermicomposting bed as well as how to handle the honeybee from artificial bee hive. Mr. S.T.Pokale ( HOD, Dept. of Zoology) and all staff department of zoology accompanied the students to the visit and gives information to student about Vermicomposting and Apiculture.

Aim and Objectives:

The motive of this visit is to provide practical insights on the vermicomposting and Apiculture techniques to the students which includes-

- 1) To learn the process vermicomposting and Apiculture.
- 2) To Know the business and economical aspect of vermicomposting.
- 3) To Observe the current status of vermicompost and Apiculture unit in college campus.
- 4) To Know the potential role of vermicompost as biofertilizer and role of honey bee in Agriculture field.
- 5) To understand how earthworm can be used for solid waste management.
- 6) To be aware of problems seen during the process.

Outcomes:

- 1) This field visit helps the students to visualise ( and the application of) apiculture and vermicomposting process they have studied.
- 2) Students identify the opportunities for the future career and prepare themselves accordingly.
- 3) Handling of honeybee for Apiculture.
- 4) Market study for selling vermicompost and Honey.

Total 51 students along with 3 faculty members were present. Students were shown the eutrophication of the lake near college and were explained the reason behind it. Student observed various species of insects and observed their activities. Apart from this they also collected the insect specimens for the study. This visit was mainly focused on to understand the species diversity in college campus.

9. Program Outcomes:

Students understood the nature of animal diversity in the college campus. They were able to identify the various species of insect. They were able to demonstrate the various body parts of the insects. Students also collected the insect specimen for their study. Field visit provides real-world experience, increases the quality of education, and improves the social relations, outside of the four walls of a classroom. The idea behind this experiential learning is to contextualize knowledge in order to develop a deeper understanding. Many field visit combine educational content with team-building activities, such as working together to complete assignments and projects. In fact, it is often a good idea to go on a field trip to help create a bond between the students. Good field visit can provide an integral part of the learning experience if they are planned well.
